Capehart's Boom to be Pricked in Its Incipiency.

A PARKERSBURG CONFERENCE

Of Three Including Mr. Camden an His Boodle Settles the Question. A Shrewd Scheme Given

Away by the Intelligencer.

Special Dispatch to the Intelligencer. WASHINGTON, D. C., July 28 .- Th news reaches this city in a direct and entirely reliable shape that the Fourth District Democratic Congressional slate has been made up, and that in spite of conflicting aspirations it is going to be put through the convention. Mr. James H. Capehart, of Mason county, thinks he is working up a boom toward a nomination. He has secured pledges from do Mason and Wayne counties, and is vigorously stumping the others. As a matter of fact this incipient bubble was pricked and the nominee decided on at a little conference which met in Parkersburg week before last. There wer ence ex Senator Camden, W. N. Chancellor and John Hamilton, of Calhoun late Clerk of the House of Delegates Hamilton was the man named, and ful paign, including the most liberal dis pensation of the ex-Senator's boodle.

SEHON'S MISSION. -About the middle of last week ex-United States Marshal Lum Schon was summoned to Parkersburg to complete the details of the deal. His immediate business was to see to the counteracting of the Capehart influence in Mason. He reported that most of the Mason county Democrats of any provingence. reported that most of the Mason country Democrats of any prominence were already inclined to go back on their previous pledges, and that Capehart had obtained the Wayne delegates for the simple reason that nobody else asked for them; consequently there did not appear to be any serious difficulties before Sehon. It was agreed, however, to let Capehart go ahead with his little programme, but to see that it amounted to nothing more than an innocent amusement.

THE CROWNING STROKE But the crowning stroke in the game is to be a vigorous and most estentatiously conducted canvass for Chancellor as the nominee in Wood county, J. G. McClure is the dark horse teared there, and the Conference was decidedly of the opinion that with no other candidate from Wood, McClure would get almost a solid delegation, which would not do at all. On the other hand, if Chancellor could divide the delegation with him, and these votes held for Hamilton, they might prove to be exceedingly valuable in a pinch, and the Conference thought a pinch might be one of ference thought a pinch might be one of ingly valuable in a pinch, and the Con-ference thought a pinch might be one of the possibilities. Therefore Mr. Chan-cellor will make a canvass, unless the unexpected happens, and do his best to control at least half of Wood's twenty-eight or thirty votes. Meanwhile, Cape-hart is expected to continue his per-formance in ignorance of the fate re-served for him, and McClure can do likewise, if he wishes to. But the Caun-den movement is not to be obstructed by den movement is not to be obstructed by any such trifles. The Camden Senatorisl boom needs a representative in the Lower House of Congress, and it pro-poses to have one if possible.

VESI'S GREAT EFFORT.

He Makes the Usual Democratic Argument for Free Trude. Washington, D, C., July 28.—Mr. Vest (Dem.) addressed the Senate on the tariff bill to-day.

The advocates of high tariff taxation. he said, were confronted by a gres peril. For years the farmers had been told that the home market was all they needed, and that the foreign market was a bagatelle, almost worthless. Now a great change had come. The depression in agricultural interests and the ememphasic demand of the larmers and something besides lying statistics and frothy declamation had caused President Harrison and Mr. Blaine to urge on her way to Baltimore from Tolchester Congress legislation for sub-American market, and of the rascally devices by which England had robbed the United States of the valuable trade. the United States of the valuable trade. Mr. Blaine now deprecated the putting of raw sugar on the free list, or of increasing the duties on wool, and suggested that the duties on sugar and wool should be utilized to secure free trade with the South American states. So that at last the protectionists had been driven from their pretentious humbur about the home market, and were forced to adopt the principle of free commercial intercourse principle of free commercial intercours which they had so long opposed and de rided. The high priests of protection rided. The high priests of protection were now burning incense on the altars of Free Trade and were yelling for reciprocity treaties, subsidies to steam and sailing vessels, Pan-American conventions—anything to bring about Free Trade with the South American States, so as to enlarge the foreign market for American products.

American products.

Mr. Vest went on to criticize the pro Mr. Vest went on to criticize the provisions of the pending bill that is supposed to be for the benefit of the farmers, and said that what the farmers wanted was the opening and enlargement of foreign markets for their surplus—wheat, corn, cattle and pork, and the decrease of the tariff duty on clothing, hardware, tin and other necessary stricles of daily and incessant use by the farmer and his family. The time for soothing syrups and emolient applications was past, and the full-grown men, who had been for years pondered under the restret of a long inarket, would be who had been for years pondered unde the protext of a home market, would b no longer satisfied with garbled statistics the purring official assura-e farmer would be relieved that the farmer would be relieved by higher taxation.

Referring to the proposed increase of duty on tin plate (of which $21,000,000 was imported from England last year) Mr. Vest eaid that it was for the purpose of forcing the people of the United States—to the use of Pittsburgh galvanized iron. The reading of the bill by paragraphs for amendment was begun, the first schedule being that as to chemicals, oils and paints. Mr. McPherson moved to reduce the duty on acetic acid, not exceeding gravity of 147 one-thousands from 11 cents to 1 cent per pounn. The vote was—yeas 15, nays 23. No quorum. The Senate then adjourned.

To Vote by Electricity. Washington, July 28.-The House mmittee on Rules to-day gave a liearing to John A. Enes, an inventor, who stated for instance that during this sersion there have been over 300 roll calls, each, consuming thirty minutes, or an aggregate of thirty working days, and he asserts by the use of his machine twenty-five days could have been saved. The committee took the matter under advisement.

RECIPROCITY AGITATION. Question That May Delay Adjournment

WASHINGTON, July 28.—This week emain here for two months or adjourn the latter part of August.

Quite a variety of reciprocity provi ons are now before the Senate, and the subject is likely to be debated at some length in that body before the Tariff bill is out of the way.

Senator Aldrich introduced a proposi-

Senator Aldrich introduced a proposition for reciprocity in 1886. He has had the subject under consideration for some time, but has as yet been unable to frame any provision that would, in his sophion, further reciprocity in connection with the tariff bill. He saye, however, that he hopes something can be done before the bill becomes a law to seoute some return for free admission of a South American products.
The whole subject seems to be in a chaotic condition, Something may come tout of it, but at present the indications are that but very few Republican Senators are disposed to support the proposition. The Republican members of the Ways and Means Committee appear to lion. The Republican members of the Ways and Means Committee appear to be unalterably opposed to anything that looks like reciprocity. They maintain that the United States has never made anything by such treaties, and they instance a number of such cases, among them the Canadian and Hawaiian treaties, and the proposed one with Spain, which the Republican Senate refuses to ratify.

The Republican Caucus Republican Senatorial caucus to-night ras attended by about thirty members. was attended by about thirty members. Senator Sherman presided and was made the official medium of communication to the press. His statement was that the caucus had determined to fix the hour of the meeting of the Senate after to-morrow and until further ordered at ten o'clock and continue the sessions as long as possible, no hour for adjournment being fixed, the tarift bill atone to be considered for several days and then be considered for several days and the displaced for a time at least by the river

After being very roughly treated the Patriarch finally succeeded in breaking loose from his assailants and made his escape from the Cathedral. Military assistance was asked for to quell the disturbance. A body of Turkish troops was sent to restore order, but when they entered the Cathedral and tried to clear the building they met with desperatoresistance. The mob was armed with revolvers and spiked staves, and a bloody conflict ensued between them and the troops. Four of the soldiers and three of the rioters were killed, and others were injured before the mob was driven from the building. The Cathedral is now closed.
